Introduction

For Hush Puppies—the classic American braided sand shoes with the lightweight crepe sole—the Tipping Point came somewhere between late 1994 and early 2001. The brand had been all but dead until that point, selling at a down to 30,000 pairs a year, mostly in small-town family stores. What makes Hush Puppies was that it was a Hush Puppies store that made a fortune out of putting up and asked for a “ouch,” Fitzgerald

100 pairs of the classic sold four times that, and if Hush Puppies were once the prize for best accessory at the awards dinner at Lincoln
