The formation of a tolerant attitude towards children with special needs and inclusive consciousness of educators
The concept of "tolerance" means tolerance for a different kind of attitudes, customs, habits; necessary in relation to the characteristics of different nations, nations and religions; is a sign of self-confidence and the consciousness of the reliability of their own positions.
Tolerance - respect for differences

Types of tolerance:
- gender
- racial and national
- religious
- political
- educational
- interclass
- towards persons with disabilities
- sexually oriented
UN: value and social norm of civil society

The child should be brought up in the spirit of mutual understanding, tolerance, friendship between nations, peace and universal fraternity

(Declaration of the Rights of the Child)
Tolerance ≠ indifference

This is active social behavior to which a person comes voluntarily and consciously.
Tolerance is the general ideology of inclusive education.

It is important to unite the efforts of government agencies, the general public, including parents, professionals, the media, charitable organizations, commercial structures and other non-governmental organizations in order to form an inclusive consciousness among the population.
Pythagoras:

«Live with others so that your friends do not become enemies, and enemies become friends.»
Are we better together?

We are better together!