Abstract. With the development of the society, economy develops rapidly year by year, and people's consumption level is also getting higher and higher. Due to the economic institutions and national conditions are different, every country's living level also is different, maybe some countries don't still get increased, people in poor countries may still be suffering. Overall, the economic conditions in most of countries are improving, so the living level also get significant improvement.

Keywords: social development, every country's economic policy, living level, personal consumption power.

But in order to improve the economic development, the government in countries needs to carry out some relevant policies, maybe they need to use their authority to regulate economy, even reformation of the policy. Just like in China, in every year, economic construction is having different progress. The most effective year was the reform and opening up in 1978. The establishment of special economic zones added vitality to China's economic development, made China's economic strength rise dramatically, raised its high international status, and brought remarkable improvement to people's quality of life. In today's society, China's international status is very obvious, in order to promote the integration of the development of the world, China has participated in a lot of cooperation with many countries. It has not only promoted exchanges with many regions, but also greatly improved and enhanced the development of other countries and the living standards of people around the world have benefited.

Not only social development can promote the improvement of living standards, but also the improvement of personal ability is the key to the improvement of living standards, so personal factors account for a large proportion. If we want to our life to be a higher level, we need to enrich ourselves and improve many abilities in many fields. So as a student, the most important thing is to study, as a teacher, the most important thing is teaching student, as a policeman, the most important thing is protect people's safety. Everyone plays different roles in life, therefore, doing our own job well in life is the greatest contribution to the society, and our life will become better and better.

By the research methods, such as questionnaire, family visit, statistic data, social investigations, we know the On May 11, 2021, the results of the seventh national census were announced: the population living in cities and towns was 901.99 million, accounting for 63.89%; the population living in rural areas was 509.79 million, accounting for 36.11%. And receiving a table from the the date that we collected, as shown in the table below. And we know the condition in China that many workers in countryside of China has no work, even worse they have no ability to work, so they just stay at countryside until older.

Table 1 – China Out with Local Migrant Workers 2014-2020

Migrant workers (10 thousand people)
Local migrant workers (10 thousand people)

This chart shows the number of Chinese migrant workers (it means farmer in China countryside) and local migrant workers from 2014 to 2020. From this chart, we can get a conclusion that the number of workers never reduce. Not only people in the city have to work, but a large number of farmers also come from the countryside to work in the city, so most of these workers have made a huge contribution to society. They try their best to the society, and city constructions become better due to them.

Table 2 – Monthly income trend of migrant workers in China from 2014 to 2020

The income of workers per month (¥/per month)
(It also means farmers in China countryside)

This chart presents the monthly income trends of Chinese workers from 2014 to 2020. From this chart, we can see the obvious increase of the income. It means the living quality of workers becomes better, they can get more income to raise their children in countryside. People's income become more and more year by year, it indicated the domestic economic development is getting better every year. The two react to each other.

All families have their own way of doing things, and countless new families have been formed one after another. In addition, now every industry is developing rapidly, which has created the current prosperous scene of life.
